

Agriculture Faculty

The agriculture department at College of the Ozarks seeks applicants for the position of Assistant/Associate Professor of Agriculture, with responsibilities that include teaching and advising in agronomy.

The ideal candidate will have a broad background in agronomy, the capacity to effectively teach a variety of courses, a strong commitment to mentoring students, demonstrated ability to work effectively with colleagues and across disciplines, and experience in production agriculture. Potential teaching assignments could include crop science, soil science, pest control, and upper division crop or soil management courses. In addition to teaching and advising duties, and depending on interest, the successful candidate may be expected to coordinate undergraduate research projects on the College's farms. This position requires an earned M.S. in Agronomy or Plant Science, with a Ph.D. preferred. The ideal starting date for this position is fall 2025 or spring 2026.

Successful candidates must embrace the College's Christ-centered mission and demonstrate excellence in teaching undergraduate students, a commitment to serving as a mentor and positive role model, and an interest in the relationship of agriculture and Christian faith. College of the Ozarks is a small (1,400 students), liberal arts, work-study college with a commitment to evangelical Christian faith and service located in southwest Missouri near Branson (www.cofo.edu). Send letter of application, CV, official transcripts, and three letters of recommendation (including one from your pastor) to: Dr. Eric Bolger, Provost, PO Box 17, Point Lookout, MO 65726, or email aoliver@cofo.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.